Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Beware! There's an alligator on the loose out in Sunnyside. It escaped from the fish pond at Harry Todd's home out on South Fayette Street, just beyond Elm Street.

With the humid weather and all the rain we have been having the last few days, Harry's pet probably thought it was down in the deep south and went out to find a swamp.

Six years ago, Ellet Kaufman sent Harry six little alligators from Florida. They were about a foot long then. He put them in the fish pond in his yard where they thrived and grew. Of course, they had to have protection from the severe winter weather, but in the summer they bask in the sunshine just as their parents do in Florida.

Harry sold four of them some time ago. They were just too much of a task to feed and care for.

The two (now only one) remaining are fairly docile—except when they are fed. Their menu? Just raw meat.

Of the one that got away, Harry said: "He'll bite you."

Incidentally, he's three feet long now and a rather repulsive looking reptile.

It has been a number of years since most offices have replaced their old typewriters with new, modern machines—but, in many cases, newspaper offices have been the last resting place of many an old relic.

The Record-Herald news room (as many visitors have noticed) is a repository for two old-style machines—one of them an old Blickensderfer machine used by City Editor B. E. Kelley, the other a "sidewinder" Oliver used for many a year by General Manager Forest F. (Tip) Tipton.

So to those of us who are more up-to-date and use postwar models, there was nothing so unusual about the odd type of typewriter used by the story-writing laughter in "I Remember Mama." It was Tip's machine—transplanted, as it were, from his desk in the Record-Herald news room to the screen of the theater where we saw the movie.

Mother to Appeal To Governor for Son

COLUMBUS, July 22—(P)—The mother of 18-year-old Donald J. Frohner, sentenced to die in Ohio's electric chair Aug. 20, will appeal to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to spare the boy's life.

Mrs. Lorena Frohner, 46, said last night she will visit the governor's office today to obtain an appointment for an interview. Another son, Theodore, 23, will accompany her.

The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday upheld the Youngstown High School boy's first degree murder conviction of 18 months ago, and set Aug. 20 as the date for his execution.

Frohner was only 16 when he and a high school chum, Arthur N. Chapman, killed William C. Spieth, a salesman. The boys said they wanted Spieth's automobile to be used in kidnapping for ransom another high school boy.

Air Raid Sirens Wailing in Cairo

CAIRO, July 22—(P)—Air raid sirens wailed for 40 minutes in Cairo early today and anti-aircraft guns went into action. It was not immediately determined whether a raid actually took place.

In Damascus the Syrian government said Zionist groups attacked Syrian positions at Tel Aziziyah last night and 27 Jews were killed.

Body of Mrs. John E. Neibel, one of the victims of the mysterious triple killing that wiped out the family of the superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory farm, is carried from the corn field where the three nude bodies were found.

Cut in Ohio Sales Tax Proposed by Governor

Message to Special Legislature Session Also Includes Old Age Pension Increase

COLUMBUS, July 22—(P)—Governor Thomas J. Herbert told a special session of the state legislature today that the three-point program which he has recommended, including a one cent reduction in the sales tax, would enable the administration to keep its pledges and provide maximum benefits for the unfortunate.

In a short address prepared for delivery in person to the lawmakers, the governor said:

"I sincerely believe the enactment of the recommendations just proposed will enable us to keep our pledges to the people of Ohio and provide our less fortunate citizens with benefits under the law."

He specifically recommended an appropriation of $1,850,000 from federal funds to give old age pensioners and the blind maximum monthly assistance of $55, an increase of $5.

He also recommended an appropriation of $3,000,000 for the state welfare department to meet the state's share of poor relief, which he said had been greatly increased during the biennium because of the addition of hospitalization to poor relief requirements.

Another appropriation of $1,500,000 was proposed to meet increased costs of food and fuel for state institutions.

In recommending the one cent reduction in the sales tax, the governor pointed out that in March, 1947 he had stated in his budget message to the legislature that if at the end of that year state revenues exceeded appropriations plus a reasonable reserve, he would call a special session to consider tax reduction.

"The conditions specified in that statement having been fulfilled," the governor said, "we owe it to the people of Ohio to provide a tax reduction now. Therefore I recommend repeal of the one cent tax on retail sales up to 41 cents."

This reduction, the governor said, had been estimated by the (Please turn to Page Two)

Washington C. H. police officers and Fayette County sheriff's office personnel were under orders Thursday to "shoot to kill" if suspects in the Mansfield Reformatory prison farm murder were seen in this area.

Chief Vaiden Long said his department is on the lookout and full descriptions have been given to all officers of the two "Mad Dog" killers who have been linked with the case.

Sheriff Orland Hays said he and his deputy, Guy Carter, have kept a careful watch and that he had stopped one car answering the description of the murderers' vehicle.

Two young men, aged 21 and 26, were in the car and one wore glasses similar to those of the killer. But they carried conclusive identification. Both were from Illinois.

MANSFIELD, July 22—(P)—Police studied autopsy reports and fingerprint gleanings today in a search for clues to the brutal kidnapping-slays of a Mansfield Reformatory executive, his wife and 21-year-old daughter.

Bodies of the three, John E. Neibel, 50, superintendent of the Reformatory farm for 20 years; his wife, 52, and their daughter, Phyllis, were found yesterday in a cornfield, eight hours after they were kidnapped.

Richland County Prosecuting Attorney Theodore Lutz said this morning that as yet, he had "no information to connect the crime to any definite suspects."

Authorities concentrated on Coroner D. C. Lavender's autopsy reports, and those of fingerprint experts who spent hours at the Neibel home and the spot where the bodies were found.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said experts of the London (O.) Prison had uncovered some fingerprints in the home where the Niebels apparently had been routed from their beds by the kidnapers. Coroner Lavender reported

The car, 1939 Pontiac convertible, had blood stains on the left front window. Inside was a marked roadmap indicating that it had been driven through Mansfield where John E. Neibel, 50, his wife, 52, and their daughter were shot and beaten to death yesterday and left flying nude in a cornfield.

Police Chief Dalton E. Pike of Lisbon said two men abandoned the car and fled after they lost the ignition keys in a street fight with Jasper Hute, 39, a dishwasher.

Hute told the chief he was on his way home from work when the two men, whose light gray car was parked on the Lincoln Highway headed east, jumped out and attacked him. Hute said he was struck on the head with a revolver through the top of the head on the left side, and the bullet lodged under her right eye.

Mrs. Neibel had been shot through the head and in the abdomen. Coroner Lavender said "we are investigating the possibility that the daughter had been criminally attacked."

It also was determined, authorities said, that two guns had been used in the slayings. They held one .25 caliber bullet and one .38 caliber bullet, taken from the bodies. The coroner said an effort will be made to recover another bullet from Mrs. Neibel's abdomen.

Reconstructing the tragedy, authorities said they believed the Niebels were in bed either late

Blood-Stained Car Found at Lisbon

LISBON, July 22—(P)—The state highway patrol checked up on a blood-stained automobile abandoned here early today to learn whether it might have been used by the slayers of a Mansfield Reformatory executive, his wife and their 21-year-old daughter.

TWO YANKS HELD BY REDS

Reappraisal Starts in City

Trained Staff In First Ward

Outside Measures To Be Taken First

Reappraisal of real estate today was under way in Washington C. H.

The Cole-Layer-Trumble Co. of Dayton is doing the job.

The work was started in the first ward and, a spokesman for the company said, it will swing steadily around through the other three wards.

The company has sent two trained appraisers to the city to get the work started. Others probably will be added to the staff when they complete their present assignments elsewhere.

Three Washington C. H. men have been signed up to help with the routine part of the appraisals. They are David Ellies, Hershel Taylor and Glenn Roberts. They are to be given an intensive course of training first and work under the supervision of one of the company's staff.

The first step in the reappraisal, the company spokesman said, would be to take the outside measures.

New-type Drug Used on Polio

HOUSTON, Tex., July 22—(P)—Polio patients treated with a new sulfa-type drug, thiazolyl, are up and walking around, but doctors warned against over-optimism.

One doctor pointed out that many patients recover spontaneously from polio.

Some 70 patients were estimated to have been treated with thiazolyl, but Houston doctors said yesterday only about 35 cases were being "thrown out" because of errors in diagnosis and dosage, they said.

"We feel that the drug is doing some good," one doctor said at the City-County Jefferson Davis Hospital, "but we just want to be sure before we make any claims."

Thiazolyl, along with another new drug, aureomycin, is being used here as part of a cooperative polio research program involving the University of Texas Medical School, Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Neurological Institute of New York.

Actress Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 22—(P)—Actress Susan Peters, who is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of a hunting accident three years ago, has sued for divorce from film producer Richard H. Quine. The charge is extreme cruelty.

18-Year-Olds Irked by Curb On Enlistment

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—Complaints from many 18-year-olds that they are being squeezed out of a chance to volunteer for military service seemed likely today to get attention at the special session of Congress.

Staff aides of Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate armed services committee said he already has asked Secretary of Defense Forrestal for a report on possible changes in the Selective Service Act.

Thousands of the teen-agers jammed recruiting stations yesterday to sign up for a one-year term in the armed forces, thus avoiding a draft call for 21 months service when they turn 19. However, Congress said only 161,000 may be accepted during the next year—and there are an estimated 1,200,000 in this age bracket now.

Gurney earlier opposed the army plan of taking the volunteers on an equal monthly basis on the grounds this will cause many to lose two years of schooling. He suggested instead that most of the 18-year-olds be accepted during the summer vacation period.

Forrestal himself wrote Gurney (Please Turn to Page Two)

Coast-Coast Flight Set for Sky Giant

BURBANK, Calif., July 22—(P)—The world's biggest passenger plane, the navy's new Lockheed Constellation, will make her first transcontinental flight Sunday.

The 180-passenger, 92-ton sky giant will leave here Saturday for Moffett Field naval air station near San Francisco for inspection by 12th Naval district officers.

Early Sunday, the navy announced, the 156-foot long plane will take off for a 2,500-mile non-stop flight to the naval air station at Patuxent River, Md. Powered by four 3,500-horsepower Pratt and Whitney engines, the Constellation is expected to make the trip in nine or ten hours.

She will be formally commissioned in ceremonies at the National Airport, Washington D. C., next week.

Willis Motors Suspends Due to Parts Shortage

TOLEDO, July 22—(P)—Willis-Overland Motors will lay off about 7,000 workers tomorrow in a temporary suspension of production caused by a shortage of camshafts, the firm said today. A strike in plant supplying Willis with the camshafts caused the shortage.

Lancaster Hit By Flash Flood

Damage Is Heavy But No Casualties

LANCASTER, July 22—(P)—A flash flood in the west side of this central Ohio city early today, menaced some 2,000 homes and caused damage estimated tentatively at approximately $500,000. No casualties were reported.

Scores of families left their homes by boats as water overflowed the banks of Hunters Run, a creek which empties into the Hocking River.

The flash flood hit at 1 A. M. (EST) after heavy rains. Some 500 homes still were isolated.

Kenneth Kerr, Red Cross disaster chairman in this city of 20,000, estimated the damage tentatively. This included damage to industrial and residential buildings, furniture, store goods and automobiles.

One lumber company was partially washed out and a building supply concern damaged. Two prefabricated homes were whisked from their foundations to a new position a half mile distant.

The Red Cross assisted displaced families with emergency food and shelter.

About 100 automobiles were covered by water between seven and eight feet deep in some places. (Please turn to Page Two)

Eavesdropper Facing Suit

CINCINNATI, July 22—(P)—Carl Radabaugh described as their landlord, was sued for $20,000 damages today by a married couple who charged that he installed a microphone in their apartment to listen to "confidential, personal, secret conversations."

Mr. and Mrs. Duard Hamilton filed separate suits in common pleas court, each asking $10,000 damages. They declared in the action that the defendant "with the purpose of destroying the peace, quiet, happiness, tranquility and domestic felicity of the plaintiffs did with a low, mean, vulgar, filthy, vicious and malicious intention" install the microphone.

It also was stated that Radabaugh on July 17, 1948, in municipal court "openly, wantonly, maliciously and brazenly admitted said aforementioned actions and further confessed that he had made numerous records of all of said conversations and communications."

The Hamiltons asserted that as a result they had suffered "shame, humiliation, mortification and mental suffering."

Ford Strike Is Averted by Wage Increase

DETROIT, July 22—(P)—A 13-cent an hour wage increase for 116,000 CIO production workers today erased a national strike threat against the Ford Motor Company.

Climaxing more than 21 hours of nearly continuous negotiation, the CIO United Auto Workers also won increases in premium pay, vacation improvements, and a group insurance plan revision.

The union estimated these "fringe" benefits would total an additional 3 1-2 to 4 cents an hour.

The UAW-CIO also estimated the annual increased cost to Ford of the new contract at $32,000,000. The firm made no estimate.

Details of the revised contract, which expires July 15, 1949, were revealed jointly by the union and the company.

Ford's agreement with the UAW-CIO was the last among the auto industry's "big three." It set a peaceful stage for the country's major producers to maintain high production at least until the summer of 1949.

Gambling Inquiries Are Pressed in Ohio

SANDUSKY, July 22—(P)—Don T. Geyer, state liquor control enforcement chief, has urged a "tell all" policy for cafe operators having knowledge of irregularities in enforcing action by state officials.

At a meeting of the state liquor control board here yesterday, Geyer urged liquor dealers to give all information they possessed on possible collusion between enforcement officials and gambling machine distributors in this area.

Geyer said his probe showed Sunday liquor sales and gambling in night clubs had been widespread in the Sandusky area, but declared:

"We are not going to crack down on only a handful where practically everybody was involved."

'Pinks' Acceptable To Wallace Party

PHILADELPHIA, July 22—(P)—Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho said today that "pink" Communists may support the New Third Party and he refuses to renounce their backing.

Arriving here for the party's first convention opening officially tomorrow, Taylor told reporters he doesn't think there are very many Communists actively engaged in the Wallace-for-president movement.

Selznick Is Sued

LOS ANGELES, July 22—(P)—Trinity Films, Inc., has filed a $2,175,000 breach of contract suit against film producer David O. Selznick.

In the action filed yesterday, Trinity also named Vanguard Films, Inc., as defendant and alleged that Selznick failed to keep an oral agreement to provide actors, directors and technicians for Trinity's production "If This Be My Harvest."

Russian Blitz Not Likely, Is French Belief

Peaceful Solution Sought by U. S., but Won't Be Run Out

BERLIN, July 22—(P)—The French-licensed newspaper Ker Kurier claims Russia could not launch a blitz against the western zones of Germany even if she wanted to.

"Disrupted rail lines east of the Elbe and deteriorated bridges would hold up the advance of motorized columns," the paper asserted.

It added that the Russians would be hampered by long communication lines, and quoted German railway men as saying that Soviet supply trains still are harassed by bands of guerrillas in the former Polish Ukraine.

Ker Kurier also quoted returning German war prisoners as saying the Russian people had no zest for war and that the Soviet army in Germany was "worried about the relatively great number of deserters."

Americans Seized

Two American military policemen were arrested today by the Russians after they drove into Russian zone by "mistake," the provost marshal's office said.

They were Privates Elwood E. Dwinell of Mableton, Washington, and George G. Hunt of Camp (Pike County) Ohio.

The provost marshal said they were on a regular patrol in the American sector of Berlin when they accidentally drove into the Soviet zone on a side road.

In coming out, they took a main street leading back to the American sector and were picked up by a Russian patrol.

German police notified American authorities.

"Dwinell and Hunt were last seen being escorted down Unter Den Linden by the Russians to the Soviet headquarters," the assistant provost marshal, Lt. Col. E. R. Kelly said.

TRUMAN OPTIMISTIC

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—President Truman said today he thinks the chances for world peace are excellent.

He endorsed fully Secretary of State Marshall's declaration that the United States intends to exhaust every resource of diplomacy to get a peaceful solution of the Berlin crisis.

The chief executive also told a news conference he expects to confer later in the day with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, and with Marshall. Gen. Clay arrived from Germany by plane Wednesday.

Mr. Truman said flatly he will not discuss the Berlin situation nor any other aspect of foreign affairs in his message to Congress next week.

A reporter asked "what is your estimate of the chances for world peace now?"

Mr. Truman replied at once—he thinks the chances for world peace are good. In fact, he hastened to add, he thinks they're excellent.

DEWEY COOPERATING

PAWLING, N. Y., July 22—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says he is cooperating with the Truman administration in trying to find a way to break the Russian blockade of Berlin without taking action that could lead to war.

The Republican presidential candidate told reporters yesterday he is in frequent communication

Little Ohio Town Gets $2,500,000 for Art

NEW YORK, July 22—(P)—A rich family's love for a little Ohio town where the father was born found expression again yesterday. Lithopolis, Fairfield County, received a gift of $2,500,000 for education, art and science. The little town 15 miles southeast of Columbus was bequeathed almost all of the estate of the late Mrs. Mabel Wagnalls Jones, writer, pianist and daughter of a founder of the Funk and Wagnalls Publishing firm.

The money will go to the Wagnalls memorial at Lithopolis, which Mrs. Jones built in 1925 in memory of her father, Adam Willis Wagnalls, and mother, Anna Wagnalls. The late publisher was born in Lithopolis.

A tax appraisal filed yesterday in New York revealed that Mrs. Jones left an estate of $2,780,788.

Other bequests totaling $215,000 were made in her will, including $40,000 each to five cousins.

Part of the money for Lithopolis will go into scholarships for undergraduates in colleges, music and art schools. These are available to all boys and girls in Bloom Township, in which Lithopolis is situated.

Mrs. Jones ordered that "citizens resident of the village of Lithopolis be preferred to all others, and that citizens resident elsewhere in the township of Bloom be next preferred." Lithopolis has a population of 288.

Mrs. Jones, who died March 22, 1946, was the widow of Richard J. Jones.

The Wagnalls memorial itself is in the form of a community center in Lithopolis.

$5,385 Unpaid In County Taxes

Delinquency Over 1% Treasurer Fabb Says

Tax delinquencies for the June payment amounted to $5,385, County Treasurer Charles A. Fabb revealed Thursday.

This sum was only $385 above Fabb's "advance estimate" of the anticipated delinquency, made before books closed for the tax payment Tuesday afternoon.

"It's not as big a delinquency as in many years during the past," Fabb declared, "but it is bigger than last year's."

At the close of the June payment in 1947, less than $3,000 remained to be collected. This represented about one half of one percent of the $410,000 shown on the tax duplicates to be collected.

The 1948 intake represents a collection of nearly 99 percent—but the delinquency is about twice the percentage of last year.

When the books closed Monday afternoon, with one day left to go in the collection, Fabb said the balance that remained to be collected was about $10,000.

This sum, he said, would probably be "whittled down to about $5000" by the time the books closed. He was only $385 off from the estimate.

but, but before going down saw one of his assailants was a heavy-set, dark complected man of about 25.

The abandoned automobile had a newly bolted back license plate, Illinois issue (967310), and the front plate was inside the car. Officers also found a driver's license issued to a Leasbury, Mo., man and a roadmap showing a route into Ohio through Mansfield on the Lincoln Highway and outlying an area including Youngstown, Cleveland, Akron and Lorain.

Columbiana County Sheriff George Hayes said he had asked the state highway headquarters at Columbus to check the operator's license and plates.

Hayes said he believed the men left his county early today in a pick-up Dodge truck which a strip mine worker reported stolen shortly before daybreak from a parking place along a roadside six miles northeast of here.

Three Are Slain

Tuesday night or early Wednesday when their slayers appeared.

The victims had been attired in their night clothing officers said. When the bodies were found in the cornfield seven miles from here they were nude.

At the Niebel house, officers found empty purses of all three. Niebel's spectacles were on a dining room table. A shotgun, rifle and revolver were missing.

Officers reported there were no bloodstains in the home, and that no one near the cornfield had heard any shots. However, nude footprints of the victims were found leading into the field.

Cigarette stubs were found snuffed into carpets on both the first and second floors of the house. None of the family smoked.

Mrs. Niebel's glasses were found behind the door in the daughter's bedroom. A bed in an unoccupied guest room had been disturbed.

Prosecutor Lutz said no clues linked the killings to a definite suspect. However, authorities here and in Columbus (O.) theorized that the "Ambrose killers" were involved.

This theory links the triple killing to two former reformatory inmates being sought for questioning in the July 9 holdup-killing of a Columbus tavern operator, Earl Ambrose.

Two Columbus men, Robert Muri Daniels, 24, and James Coulter West, 22, were identified by witnesses as the killers of Ambrose.

The Niebels were found missing from their home near the Reformatory's 1600-acre farm yesterday morning when the farm superintendent failed to appear at a 6:30 guard roll call. Investigators found the doors open, the house ransacked, and both family automobiles in the garage.

The bodies were found by Robert Zoeller, 18, of Chillicothe, a counselor at the Lutheran Camp, and the Rev. Herbert Veller of Stony Ridge. They were hiking with about 65 boys when one of the youngsters said he saw something strange in the cornfield.

Sheriff Robinson said a light gray automobile, similar to one driven by West and Daniels last seen Monday night at New Lexington, was noticed beside the Niebel house on the Reformatory grounds between midnight and 2 A. M.

Police today were expected to have ballistics experts examine the bullets taken from the victims and those taken from the Columbus tavern owner to see if similar guns were used in the slayings.

Arthur Glattke, Reformatory superintendent, was in Cleveland when the kidnap-killing was reported. He termed Niebel "a very valuable officer—one of our finest," and added:

"I wouldn't know anyone who would harbor resentment against him. On the other hand they may have asked him to do something he refused to do."

The superintendent declined to comment on the Daniels-West angle, or that he remembered them as inmates.

Niebel, in his 20 years at the institution, had never been involved in any difficulty although he was considered a strict disciplinarian in dealing with inmates, reformatory officials said.

Little Hope Remains For Man Hit by Car

Physicians held little hope Thursday for the life of Ramey Wood, 63, Fayette County farmhand who was struck by an automobile on the Leesburg Road early Sunday.

Wood has developed pneumonia, physicians said, in addition to other injuries. He had been in critical condition since his arrival in Doctors Hospital, Columbus, shortly after the accident.

An employee of Worley Grimm on the White Oak farm, Wood was struck by a car driven by Russell K. Olsen of Brecksville, Cuyahoga County. Sheriff Orland Hays said Wood stepped into the front of the car during a driving rainstorm.

Injuries suffered by Wood included a compound fracture of both bones of the right leg just below the knee, shock, lacerated scalp, fractured skull and fractured pelvis.

Olsen was blameless in the mishap, the sheriff's office reported.

Lancaster Flood

One car was washed from its parking place into a building supply company's yard and into a fence.

The C and O Railroad said several sections of track were washed out. U. S. highway 22 was blocked when a cement bridge was destroyed by the high water.

Mrs. Albert Sherman, who lives with her husband and daughter in a three and one-half room, one story house, told of being awakened by the flood.

"I awoke when I felt the house shaking," Mrs. Sherman said.

"I opened the front door and there was water beating against the outside." Neighbors rescued the three.

Five small bridges in outlying sections of the city were reported blocked by high water, which also shut off Route 33.

Washington County near Marietta also was struck by rain of near cloudburst proportions soon after midnight. A bridge south of Newport was washed away, blocking traffic on U. S. Route 7 and alternate 50, and the rain caused a landslide temporarily blocking traffic near Lowell on state route 77.

Tons of dirt removed from Route 77 early today by highway workers permitted one-way traffic.

Damage to farm crops was estimated as climbing into thousands of dollars as the rainfall totaled about four inches.

About 30 families were evacuated from their homes in the village of Rockbridge in Hocking County, where the Hocking River flooded part of the village.

The Hocking was reported at its highest point there since the flood of 1913.

Parts of the village were under six feet of water.

last April 22 that he considered the 18-year-old quota system an inadequate compromise for the universal military training program which Congress pigeonholed.

Gurney's committee aides gave these reasons for the 161,000 ceiling on the teen-age volunteers:

1. Only $500,000,000 was approved by Congress for the one-year training program and unless an extra amount is appropriated at the special session further expansion is barred.
2. A larger number of 18-year-olds would require more regulars to train them, thus reducing the combat strength of the armed forces.
3. The one-year volunteers cannot be sent outside this country, except for brief training cruises or

Meanwhile Selective Service officials sped preparations to start registering those men, 19 through 25 who will be subject to a draft call.

Registrations will begin August 30 and continue through September 18, with induction of qualified men to start at some later date.

"There is no doubt but that at the present time the state can afford the loss of revenue which would result from the repeal of the tax," the executive added.

Legislative leaders were hopeful the session would be able to pass the governor's program late today and that it would not be necessary for members to return for a session tomorrow.

Yesterday Gov. Herbert turned down pleas to open the special session for consideration of extra state financing for local subdivisions. He told representatives of the association of Ohio municipalities he could "not see the urgency" for additional financial relief at this time.

Members of the legislature will decide whether or not the governor expands his call to permit consideration of legislation that would permit the Henry A. Wallace third party ticket to appear on the ballot.

The governor indicated he would authorize consideration of the subject if legislative leaders request it.

Warning of Storm Doesn't Materialize

A shower hit Fayette County again Thursday about noon and Coyt A. Stookey, the Washington C. H. weather observer, reported that the rain was light compared with the other downpours that have been drenching the county all week.

In Wilmington, the Clinton County Air Force Base warned residents about 11:15 A. M. to expect heavy thunder-showers accompanied by winds ranging up to 60 miles an hour within the next half hour. At 1:30 P. M. however, light rain was falling but there had been no heavy storm.

Somehow, word of the storm warning reached Washington C. H. about noon. It was the topic of much discussion in the business section while glances were focused on the clouds to the west.

the governor said, calling attention to the fact that Dulles has been participating in conferences with Secretary of State Marshall over the Berlin crisis.

After a luncheon conference at his farm here with Harold E. Stassen, one of his unsuccessful rivals for the GOP presidential nomination, Dewey said at a news conference:

"We talked at great length about the Berlin situation, we're both deeply concerned over it. We share the view that it is serious, and the slightest mismanagement, in view of the extremely unsatisfactory arrangements which exist, could have serious consequences."

WAR MATERIAL LOADED

SALINA, Kan., July 22.—(AP)—The air force has clarified the status of war material loaded aboard freight cars at Camp Phillips for movement to the east coast.

The supplies will be shipped to England for use by B-29 bombers now on training missions there.

Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, commander of the 301st very heavy bombardment squadron at the nearby Smoky Hill air force base, said in a statement yesterday the material had been in storage at his base.

A report Tuesday that the large amount of equipment was being loaded aboard 240 flat cars had aroused speculation on why it was being transported. Camp Phillips, used during the war as

MORE NEGOTIATIONS

LONDON, July 22.—(AP)—The western powers were reported by a British official today to have agreed tentatively to widen negotiations over Berlin to include several other German problems. The informant implied that representatives of the United States, Britain and France had agreed to make this connection to the Russians in the draft of a new note protesting the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Wheat got some aid from milling interests, presumably lifting hedges against sales of flour to South America and European countries. Corn showed the widest gains at times, largely because of short covering in the July contract. Advances ranged to around two cents at one time.

Cash markets were little changed from yesterday. Purchases on a to-arrive basis from the country were small but shipping sales of oats totaled around 50,000 bushels.

Draft Board Plans Here Not Yet Completed

Two County Judges Are to Nominate New Members

"No definite plans have been made yet in Fayette County to name a new Selective Service board," Common Pleas Court Judge Harry M. Rankin, said today.

Judge Rankin, with Probate Judge Reil G. Allen and some other "reputable citizen" of their choice, has been designated to nominate the members of the new Fayette County draft board by Adj. General Chester B. Goble, who was named to head Ohio Selective Service program Wednesday by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

The draft board situation in Fayette County gained national recognition early in 1946 when the board, composed of Howard Fogle, chairman, Arch O. Riber, Dr. S. B. Smith, Ray Maynard and L. M. Hayes resigned en masse in protest against the wave of strikes sweeping the country. The board refused to draft Fayette County men "as long as strikers who were rated essential sat around and did nothing."

After several months without any board operating in the county, a three-man board was appointed to take care of the work that had piled up on the stenographer, Mrs.

French premier to head a coalition government of Socialists and Communists.

New York—Twelve U. S. Communist Party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

Cairo—Jewish sources in Haifa said today that fighting (with Arabs) still was going on in northern Palestine on the third day of the truce imposed by the United Nations. A main Cairo thoroughfare was blasted last night when a single unidentified plane raided the Egyptian capital.

Trenton, N. J.—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today ordered the reactivation of the entire New Jersey civilian defense program. He said the wartime program would be set up on a "standby basis" under the direction of the state department of defense.

Room and Board

By Gene Ahern

Homer Scott, The second board, which served until the records were moved to Columbus early last year, was composed of Karl J. Kay, chairman, Arthur Matson and Donald Hidy.

Gov. Herbert, in appointing Gen. Goble state director, said that each county in the state would have at least one draft board, but that the number in excess of one would be decided by each county.

Gen. Goble, also serving as the state's bonus director at the present time, will receive no added compensation for the Selective Service work, which he also headed during World War II. His appointment, the governor said, came following receipt of a telegram from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, asking that the state draft plans be launched at once.

Gen. Hershey indicated late Wednesday that the armed forces may not call peace-time draftees into service until around October 1.

Wallace Goes on Ballot In Illinois Election

CHICAGO, July 22—(P)—The Progressive party of Illinois, supporting Henry A. Wallace for president, said today it is assured of a place on the Illinois ballot in the Nov. 2 election.

Party leaders said 100,000 signatures have been obtained on petitions to put on the ballot a third party slate, including nominees for governor, U. S. Senator and other offices subject to state-wide voting.

City Faces a Deficit, Pleads for State Aid

WARREN, July 22—(P)—City employees will face two "payless" paydays here this year unless Warren "gets some help from the state," Frank Fabrizio, chairman of city council's finance committee, warned today. The city is faced with a $90,000 operating deficit in 1948.

Power Boost Calculated

COLUMBUS, July 22—(P)—City Auditor R. P. Barthelow estimated today that Columbus residents will pay an average increase of $1.85 on their yearly light bill when a 4.4 percent electric rate surcharge goes into effect.

Rural Mailmen Ask Good Roads

Improvement Drive On by Association

CHICAGO, July 22—(P)—The nation's 32,000 rural letter carriers are demanding more and better country roads.

They drive 1,400,000 miles a year to deliver mail to some 30,000,000 people in 8,000,000 rural families. They want to do their driving on hard surfaced and all-weather roads.

That's what B. A. Winquest, of Washington, D. C., president of the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association says.

Winquest, in an address prepared for delivery to the American Road Builders' Association said: Some 50 percent of rural mail delivery mileage is over unsurfaced dirt roads, impassable part of the year.

Since 1940, permanent improvements on rural roads have been sparse. Some roads are in worse condition than they were 15 years ago. Most are in need of work.

To get the mail through in all weather, carriers have to use such transportation as snowmobiles, stiltmobiles, "mud cars" with special tractor bodies, skids, bobsleds, tractors, jeeps and the old horse and wagon.

A rising level of farm travel is adding to the traffic load on rural roads Winquest said.

Farmers now use some 4,000,000 passenger cars, he said, own 1,110,000 trucks and hire another 500,000 trucks. The farm-to-market roads are being used at a peak level.

"Our economic system, to function efficiently, requires a network of improved rural roads connecting with an adequate system of primary or arterial highways,"

Winquest said. "x x x these conditions reveal our deep concern about a workable rural road improvement program x x x that will pull the rural areas out of the mud."

WHAT "Stepping Down" MEANS TO YOU

How the New Hudson, America's most streamlined car with the low silhouette, brings you roominess and comfort never before obtainable in an automobile.

You've seen them flashing by in all their sparkling color—those trim, gorgeous New Hudsons with the low, streamlined silhouette.

But have you really examined one of these amazing cars? They are the big news in the automobile world today!

Hudson, always known for great forward steps in the development of the automobile, and for efficient use of motive power, is again 'way out ahead with a motor car that hits a new high in efficient use of space—that makes a greater percentage of its total space actually available for your use and comfort.

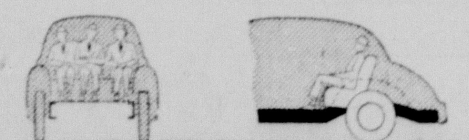

When you take a close look, you'll find that Hudson, through the use of a new, exclusive "step-down" zone, reclaims so much usually wasted space that this sensationally efficient car gives you more useful interior room than you've ever before experienced in an automobile.

This new kind of motor car has a sturdy foundation structure surrounding the passenger compartment, which permits the floor to be recessed down within the base frame so that you step down when entering. This makes space between frame members, which is usually wasted, available for use inside the car.

Seats can thus be lowered to harmonize with the new, lower top, and by stepping down into Hudson, which is only five feet from ground to top, you get more head room than in any other mass-produced car built today!

And how about seating room? Hudson's new design reclaims space formerly taken up by wheel housings and protruding fenders. This is accomplished by placing rear seats ahead of the rear wheels, in a zone unrestricted by wheel housings. As a result, rear seats are 15 inches wider in this car than in only little more than four inches wider over-all. Both rear and front seats extend the full width of the body, giving Hudson the roomiest seats in any American-made car! Hudson's use of the "step-down" zone and unique seating arrangements are illustrated in the sketches that follow:

OTHER CARS—Passengers ride on top of a frame, as shown above, and (in the rear seat) between rear wheel housings, which occupy space that should be a part of seating room. Riding on top of a frame means that essential head room must be reduced if the roof is lowered for streamlining.

NEW HUDSON—You ride cradled down within Hudson's base frame, as shown above, and also ahead of the rear wheels. Seats can therefore extend full width of the car. Due to the use of the "step-down" zone, roof is lowered for streamlining, yet ample head room is provided.

The New Hudson even reclaims the unused space in doors by providing gorgeously tailored, recessed compartments where interior door handles, window cranks, ash receivers, and generous arm rests are placed out of the way to allow increased elbow room for passengers.

This development of Hudson's exclusive, all steel Monobolt body-and-frame* with its "step-down" zone required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. This may be why Hudson, and Hudson alone, offers this important advance today!

"Stepping down" is so important to motor-car beauty, riding qualities and safety—as well as roominess and comfort—that the nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours without obligation—fully explaining this design principle. Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit 14.

Values of Improved Railroad Service

A gang of kids from Fayette County recently took a long train ride—an overnight trip on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's main line to Washington, D. C. A few days later the group returned. And one of the big things these youngsters talked about was the trip itself—the ride on the modern, streamlined coaches on the National Limited and the Cincinnati.

An astonishing discovery was made from these conversations. Some of the high school students, ranging in age from 14 to 18, had never before ridden a railroad train!

This is an age of gasoline engines on land and in the air. Everyone rides in automobiles and buses. Even a group of children from Wilson School not so long ago took airplane excursions over their home county.

Despite this lack of "railroad-mindedness," the trains are still very much with us—and, barring unforeseen developments, they will continue to be for decades to come.

Here is Fayette County, a railroad center. Tracks of four railroads criss-cross the county seat and rural areas. Not so many years ago the railroad stations were thronged with travelers.

Gradually, with the advent of the automobile, railroads lost their popularity. Twenty years ago the last Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train rattled through the city. Eleven years ago the old "Grass-hopper" line gave up the ghost. The DT&I is down to one accommodation coach each day through the city.

This leaves us with two trains each way on the B&O from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, via Columbus and Washington C. H. Half of this service is at night. And the trips themselves are no faster than buses on the highways.

Now look at some current news. The Associated Press tells of curtailments of Toledo-Columbus service on the Pennsylvania, of cuts by the New York Central between Columbus and Akron. Not enough business to maintain the old coach steam trains.

Another AP dispatch, this one from Atlanta, informs us of the Central of Georgia Railway's plunge into streamlined train operation. One train, the Man O'War, makes two 200-mile round trips daily between Atlanta (population, 302,288) and Columbus, Ga. (population, 53,280). Another, Nancy Hanks II, makes one 587-mile round trip between Atlanta and Savannah (population, 95,996).

Both trains stop at way points smaller than Washington C. H. and Wilmington—yet reach speeds up to 72 miles per hour, considerably faster than those legal on the highway.

The financial result: a net profit, the first year, of $200,000!

Here we have trains from Cincinnati (800,000) to Columbus (365,000)—both larger than any of the Georgia cities, and only 100 miles apart—begging for travelers! The Central of Georgia, serving a less-populated area, has more potential travelers than space!

Perhaps the B&O might emulate the Central of Georgia and try out streamlined equipment and more frequent service. Then, perhaps, the younger generation could grow up to be "train-minded" as well as "air-minded" and "auto-minded."

It is on this younger generation that the railroads must depend for future business.

The bee hive was invented by a preacher a hundred years ago. A headline writer remarks that the idea was a honey.

A train carrying the president of Chile was delayed by a blizzard the other day. Just a summer-day report from south of the Equator.

Now is the time for every good man to act like one.

Toughest Game in the World

NEW YORK, (AP)—Water polo used to be regarded as the most strenuous of sports.

Anyone who sat through the Republican and Democratic conventions in Philadelphia, however, would have to admit it is tiddlywinks in comparison to the great American game of politics.

There is a sport that really strains muscles and—on occasion—brains.

To play water polo you have to know how to swim in calm water and slug your opponent only when you're beneath the surface, where the referee can't see you. In politics the water never is calm. You may have to spend your life swimming against the stream and end up nowhere. Or you may dive in and never come up.

And the referee? There isn't just one. There may be millions—the voters, all with their own ideas of the game.

It isn't nearly as secure as major league baseball. Babe Ruth stayed in the big time for years through his simple knack of knocking a baseball a long way. But in politics if a man knocks the ball in the same place two years in a row he often strikes out completely with the voters. They won't even give him another time at bat.

And what other game requires as much physical stamina and sure-footed dexterity? A man has to be able to hit with his mouth, and develop a skin thicker than a rhinoceros. He needs a tin ear and an iron bottom to sit out the long hours of legislative debate.

He has to be an expert on everything from chicken farming to atom hatching. He has to vote to please his constituents, his wife and the still small voice of conscience that the sleeping pill won't silence. He has more bosses than a private in an army of generals.

It's rare to jump from the sandlots to the Major Leagues in politics. No other sport ordinarily requires so long a period of training.

The first steppingstone is usually a job as local prosecuting attorney. Thomas E. Dewey followed this traditional pattern. Harry Truman was a judge. Having proved he can dispose of crooks, the young politician feels he has convinced the people they can trust him to vote their own money. He runs for a higher office.

Mayor, state representative, state senator, congressman, governor, senator—many stepping stones. Each takes years.

But run as fast as you can, young man, run as often as you can—there still are no school-boys at the top in this game. The rules say you can't be senator until you're thirty, and the land-lord a long time ago put a clause in the White House lease that the tenant had to be at least 35.

Kiss some babies... shake some hands... make some speeches... win some votes. But be wrong once and you lose the voters. Kiss some more babies... shake some more hands... make some more speeches... and maybe win back the votes.

And after a lifetime, just when you yearn most for the applause, you may have to say, "I want to play, but I can't play the way they want me to." And you step down a has-been, another man goes in, his crowd cheers—and the game goes on. Your reward is to have old friends call you by a title you no longer own—"senator," "governor," "congressman."

No wonder politics has produced more enduring heroes than any other American pastime. It takes a hero to play the game and come out with anything but a black eye. But there never was a shortage of people who wanted to play it.

Better Beware of Politics Now

The president's call to Congress to reassemble on July 26 is of no advantage to the nation. Under our system of government, every member of the House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate are to come before their constituents so provides. As ours is a representative republic, it is part of our way of life that elections occur at fixed times and that those who run for public office should present themselves to the people who elect them.

No issue will be presented to the 80th Congress which could not better be handled by the 81st. And the reason is that the new Congress will have heard from the people; it will come to Washington fresh from the cities, towns and villages. It will know what the constituents want. It will not be so subject to pressures of Washington, to the lobbyists, columnists and commentators.

This does not interest Harry Truman. With the spiffiness of a small boy after his daddy has punished him, he sticks out his tongue at Congress. The advantage to him is that he will send flamboyant and impractical messages to Congress and then will make some off-the-cuff speeches based on his messages. Curiously, the president does not realize that his popularity has receded after each of his messages. He does not realize that he was respected, even by his political opponents, before he began to talk so much. Everybody felt that he meant well, and that he ought to have a chance.

Yet the president has become convinced that his pronouncements are invaluable to the country and to his political career and he will bombard the Congress with messages and imprecations and will then say to the country that he told Congress what to do and Congress did not do it. He does not recognize that under the constitution the Congress is not a subordinate agency to the president. Of course, he will not say that the Democratic members of Congress also do not follow his lead; otherwise, it would have been impossible to pass so many measures over his veto.

All this is small politics, irksome and unpleasant, and will avail nothing. Also, it will not harm the United States, for we are like drunkards and idiots who somehow survive, in spite of everything, by the grace of God.

It is the counsel of despair in the foreign field that needs constant watching. There the harm can be irretrievable. There are enough bad spots in our international relations that anybody can start a war. The Berlin situation alone holds more causes for war than Sarajevo, which started World War I. Certainly, anyone can start a general war over Berlin. The Palestine situation is made for a general war, and in the history of man, several of the bigger wars developed in just that area of the earth's surface.

The China situation is perfect for a general war. Chiang Kai-Shek is in real peril, largely because of the politics pursued by Harry Truman and George Marshall. It is possible to start a war with Soviet Russia in China, Manchuria, and Korea at a moment's notice. For that, only George Marshall is responsible, as he disarmed Chiang's troops while Soviet Russia was arming the Chinese Communists with excellent arms captured from the Japanese.

So, if the same spiffiness evidenced by the unnecessary and impolitic recall of the 80th Congress should be applied to our foreign policy, there is no telling what damage can be done. And what makes me more fearful is that the Democratic convention provided beyond doubt that Mr. Truman has rejected sound Democratic leadership and has cast his fortune with such men as David Niles, Leon Henderson, Oscar Ewing and other resuscitated new dealers who go haywire politically at the drop of a hat. They provoked the split with the solid south which wiser and more experienced men had handled with wisdom in the resolutions committee. They have wrought havoc in pursuit of their private but irresponsible opinions. Should they advise the president on the handling of our foreign policy? God love and protect America!

Larynx Easy Prey To Inflammation

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE body is "wired for sound" by means of a complicated and delicate little chamber called the larynx and located at the upper end of the windpipe or trachea. Thus, to singers, actors, and public speakers this little voice-box is likely to assume an importance out of all proportion to its size, and to become the most cherished organ of the body. And there is good reason for the pampering it receives because the voice can be damaged or even lost altogether by any one of a number of things which cause strain or inflammation of the larynx.

More overuse of the voice can cause harmful irritation of the organ which produces it, leading to unwelcome changes in the voice itself. Infections or overindulgence in alcohol also damage this delicate little instrument, thus bringing about hoarseness or giving a rasping quality to the voice. Stage fright, as is well known, often causes complete though temporary loss of the voice.

Acute inflammation of the larynx always calls for complete rest of the throat. If a speaking or singing engagement is impending, it should be canceled while the performer stays at home to treat his throat by cold compresses on the neck and the breathing in of steam.

In less severe cases of inflammation of the larynx, it is suggested that some alkaline spray be used in the nose and that a few drops of ephedrine be applied to the voice-box by means of a syringe.

An actor or a singer occasionally may lose his voice on the day of an important appearance because of fatigue. Treatment in such cases should include rest in bed, cold compresses, and nose drops containing menthol.

Chronic inflammation of the larynx occurs only when the voice is used constantly, as for example, by clergymen, school teachers, vendors, and sport fans.

Noisy Surroundings

Talking in noisy surroundings, especially in the outdoors, puts a great strain on the voice. Excessive drinking and smoking also are injurious, alcohol causing a dilation or swelling of the blood vessels in the larynx.

Infected tonsils may be a cause for recurrent inflammation of the larynx or voice-box. In such cases, removal of the tonsils may be advised.

In some cases irritation may be due to the dripping of infected material from the back part of the nose into the throat. Hence, when such irritation occurs, a careful study of the nasal sinuses is advised.

Vocal Cords

Sometimes little swellings develop on the vocal cords. These are known as singers' nodules, and they are made up of scar tissue. In practically all instances they are caused by straining of the voice. Now and then such nodules have been removed surgically; however, this involves some risk to the perfect clarity of tone required of singers. The best procedure seems to be at least three months' rest of the voice and the avoidance of strain thereafter.

Of course, there are some serious disorders responsible for continued hoarseness, such as tumors, tuberculosis, or syphilis of the larynx. Hence, continued hoarseness calls for thorough study by the physician using a laryngoscope which makes it possible for the doctor to look directly into the larynx.

COLUMBUS, July 22—(AP)—There is no polio epidemic in Ohio and the state is a long way from it, State Health Department officials said yesterday.

There are 101 reported cases throughout the state, officials said. They added there would have to be one for every 10,000 Ohioans before the disease reached epidemic proportions.

While last year's 1,480 cases hit and all-time polio peak for Ohio, the number of cases recorded at this time then was only 45.

Car Production Is Accelerating

Demand Exceeds Output, However

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT, July 22—(AP)—The 2,000,000th passenger car of 1948 rolled from the auto industry's assembly lines today.

Later this week truck and coach production will top the 800,000 unit mark.

The industry is sharply accelerating its production tempo but it isn't keeping up with the demand for new cars and light weight trucks. Barring a prolonged work stoppage among the volume producers the full year output almost certainly will exceed 5,000,000 units. But demand shows no sign of leveling off.

The car makers are well ahead of their showing of last year at this point. The passenger car makers have turned out about 70,000 more vehicles and the truck builders about 75,000 more than they did in the same period of 1947. At present the car builders expect to get as much steel during the remainder of the year as they had in the first half.

They are not nearly as optimistic about the outlook for a steady flow of parts and sub-assemblies from their supplier concerns.

A substantial part has been taken in this year's production upturn by the so-called "independent" manufacturers. While Ford was losing nearly 100,000 units in a model change-over, the smaller concerns increased their output for this year's first half by 120,000 cars.

Commenting on the operations of the "independents," Ward's automotive reports noted that while they accounted for only 9.93 percent of the total motor vehicle output in 1941, they jumped this to 16.61 percent in 1947 and to 22.18 percent during the first six months of 1948.

REPRESENTING the Empire State at the "Miss America" beauty pageant in Atlantic City, N. J., in September will be Niagara Falls' reddish-blond Yvonne Fix, 19-year-old Ithaca college coed. A voice major, she will sing "One Fine Day" from "Madam Butterfly" as part of her program in the contest. She is 5-feet-5 and weighs 125. (International)

The smaller concerns, Ward's said, "somehow have been able to wangle requisite materials and component parts better than the 'big three.'"

Kaiser-Frazer, Ward's added, "took top honors among the independents for 1947 and the first six months of 1948. This firm got 4.06 percent of the passenger car business for the whole country in 1947, and stepped the figure up to 5.27 percent for the first half of 1948."

Ward's placed Studebaker next with 4.74 percent in this year's first half against 3.47 last year; followed by Hudson with 3.96 against 2.84; Nash with 3.89 against 3.19 and Packard 2.59 against 1.56.

The used car market apparently continues firm. The trade paper Automotive News, which has just completed another survey, reports that demand continues to exceed supply for 1948 and 1949 models on the used car lots. (The 1949 models are Fords, Lincolns and Mercurys).

It adds that "dealers are looking for a strong late-summer, early-fall retail trade" in the midwest and southern areas "when record crops of wheat, corn and cotton come in."

Most industry analysts expected Independence Day to mark the beginning of a tapering off in demand for cars on the used car lots.

Automotive News added:

"Despite the optimistic outlook on crops, most dealers were quick to declare they are being especially careful about stocking too heavily on late models. Continued new car production, they feel, will eventually hammer down present prices as soon as summer travel is done. Winter trade this year, many said, will be worse than last year."

ufacturers will give you maximum service from your screens.

First, say the experts, clean screens before putting them up in the spring. A soft-bristled brush will do, but the dusting attachment of a vacuum cleaner is quicker, and easier to use.

Second, patch small holes by placing marquisette or mosquito netting over the opening and giving the patch two or three coats of light varnish to stiffen it and hold it in place. For larger holes, cut a piece of metal screening one-half inch larger than the hole. Remove cross wires around the patch to form a fringe. Bend the fringed ends down so the wires will slip through the screen mesh around the hole. Pinch the fringe tightly against the screen to anchor the patch in place.

Third, wipe screens with benzine and give them a rust-inhibiting coat of varnish, thinned with turpentine and linseed oil to prevent the mesh openings from clogging.

Fourth, use a residual insecticide on screens and around the door frames, garbage cans and other spots favored by the insect pests. Areas exposed to sunlight will need several sprayings a summer. Follow the manufacturer's directions exactly in using insecticides.

Fifth, check screen frames to make sure they fit snugly and are not warped.

Farm Workday Now Reduced To 12 Hours

Farmers are beginning to take their work a little more easily than in wartime, says J. H. Sitterley, department of rural economics, Ohio State University. He quotes bureau of agricultural economics' statistics which show the average workday of U. S. farmers on June 1 was 12 hours, a reduction from the average of 12.8 hours put in daily during the war.

The statistics also show fewer members of farmers families are working on farms this June than in 1947. Hired men are working an average of 9.9 hours daily now, as compared with 10.7 hours a day in 1943. The national farm work sheet showed spring wheat planting about completed June 1 in northern states and winter wheat harvest well under way on the same date in southwestern states.

National reports show Ohio got a good break in weather conditions for spring plantings, as compared with conditions in other areas. New England States had too much rain in May, and the south Atlantic states had frequent rains to interfere with field work. California had its worst drought in years during early 1948, and recent floods in the northwest held back work and damaged crops already planted.

Gene Kelly, as a bad, bold dancing pirate, sweeps Judy Garland off her feet in M-G-M's swashbuckling Technicolor musical, "The Pirate," which is booked to open Sunday at the Fayette Theater for a three-day run.

The movie is based on S. N. Behrman's stage success. A new hit parade musical score by Cole Porter is one of the features.

The U. S. was $97 a month with board on June 1. Workers who boarded themselves were paid an average of $113 a month. The pay rate for farm workers on June 1 in Ohio was almost three times the rate paid in 1910-14, but farmers in New England, middle Atlantic states, and Pacific coast states were paying more than the Ohio rate. Farmers in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin had considerably longer working days on June 1 than farmers of any other producing section. The average day in Ohio was 12.7 hours for farm owners and 9.8 hours for hired farm workers. Florida farm owners put in an average of 10.4 hours daily to take the record for the shortest farm workday in the nation.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 22—(AP)—J. Strom Thurmond, presidential candidate of rebellious southern Democrats, has resigned from the national Democratic committee.

The anti-Truman governor of South Carolina said last night he had mailed his resignation to Chairman William P. Baskin of the state Democratic executive committee and that a copy had been sent to chairman J. Howard McGrath of the national committee.

Thurmond has announced his intention of "doing everything I can to assure the defeat" of President Truman, the major aim of the states' rights Democrats.

Washington C. H. Kids Get Break with City's Playgrounds and Parks

During the hot summer months in many cities, the school grounds are deserted and the gates are padlocked.

And the kids get into mischief. Of course, wherever children get together there's bound to be mischief. But the summer recreation program in Washington C. H., is holding it to a minimum through supervised play on four school playgrounds and two recreation fields.

Over 1,500 children each week are taking advantage of the summer program, according to its director, Coach Fred Pierson. There's room for more, he added, pointing out that it has been successful in his opinion during the past six weeks.

His estimate of its success is based on his belief in the program, and the reasons it was set up.

It is serving its purpose, Pierson said, by building up a wholesome interest in athletic skills—in softball and baseball—and by building up an all-important feeling of sportsmanship.

The younger children are learning how to play with other youngsters, and are keeping off the streets.

Thus it has its "positive" results in that it builds up something—skill and sportsmanship. It has its "negative" results, equally important, in that it cuts down on delinquency.

The average number of children on the playgrounds each week numbers from 1,500 to 1,700. Over the six week period since the program opened, this would bring total attendance to well above 10,000.

At Cherry Hill and Eastside School playgrounds, supervisors are on hand from 9:30 A. M. to noon. At Rose Avenue and Sunnyside, the hours are from 1:30 to 5 P. M.

Tennis playing continues throughout the day at Gardner

Park, with supervision at the field house for games such as ping pong and volleyball.

Almost every afternoon, there's been some activity, too, on Wilson Field. A baseball clinic has been held from 4 to 5:30 P. M. daily to teach boys the fundamentals of baseball.

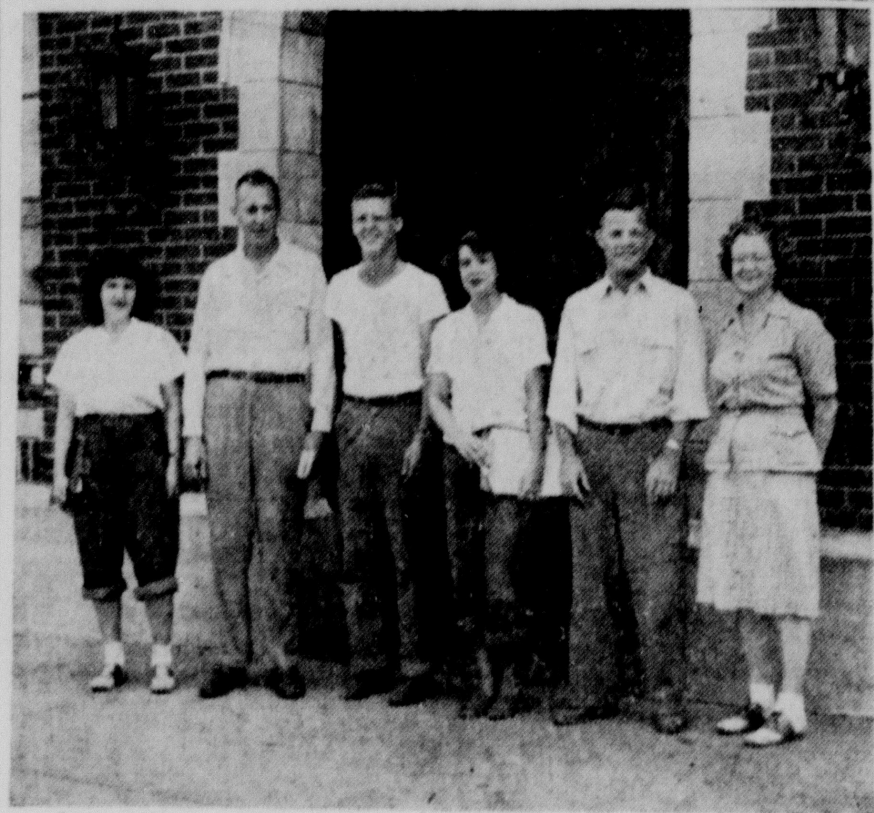

Each week, except during temporary closing of the pool, swimming parties have been arranged under proper supervision to the London Municipal Pool.

These parties have been alternated between groups from Cherry Hill-Rose Avenue and Eastside-Sunnyside. Transportation has been in a privately-owned school bus driven by Roy Pfeifer.

In telling of the playground activity, Pierson said it mustn't be forgotten that there's something for the adults, too.

The horseshoe pits at Gardner Park and the tennis courts, as well, are open to the public. And there's the night softball which is drawing both participating and spectating crowds nightly.

The softball games are in two leagues—the Recreation League of nine city teams, and the Greater Ohio League consisting of eight teams from communities throughout South Central Ohio.

It's early morning and these playground directors have been briefed by Coach Pierson (second from left) and are ready to scatter to the various schoolgrounds. They are, left to right, Connie Kaufman, Pierson, Carroll Steele, Mary Lou Follis, Hugh Rea and Eleanor Leiter.

U. S. Training Troops In Air Transportation

TOKYO.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. James A. Lester, chief of staff of the U. S. Eighth Army, said today intensive training is underway in northern Japan for the mass transportation of that army's four divisions by air.

Key men of the four divisions, he said, have been instructed in the essentials of airborne transportation. Upon their return to tactical units throughout the United States they will become the nucleus for further training of combat forces in the principals of aerial movement of infantrymen, one division has established its own school and others are planned.

The purpose of the training is to prepare the officers and men of the Eighth Army to be ready to move anywhere by aerial transport.

General Lester said the training was in keeping with orders from Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of U. S. army ground forces, to familiarize all infantry units with aerial movements.

From other sources it was learned that the air school has been maintained continuously since last October by the Eleventh Airdrome Division and the Far East Air Force's 40th Troop Carrier Squadron.

Some 5,000 men and officers have completed the special training, including some staff officers from Korea, Guam and the Philippines.

Washington C. H. Recreation Program Provides Wholesome Fun for Hundreds of Youngsters

It was a good, warm day when this picture was taken—and about an hour later, this gang of kids, seen boarding a school bus at Cherry Hill School, was splashing around in the London Municipal Pool. At right is Coach Fred Pierson, city recreation director, checking the youngsters as they board the bus.

When the girl was hit by the ball, she took her place in the circle and the boy who aimed it correctly replaced her in the center. The game is dodgeball, and it's being played on the shaded playground at Cherry Hill School.

A sandbox is a lot of fun—and these kids know it. They're shoveling the sand and having a fine time on an improvised "beach" at Sunnyside School.

After dividing this group up for informal games, Coach Pierson shows how it's done. This picture was taken on the summer playground at Eastside School. Informal games of all kinds are played during the day, in addition to the types of sports which in later years will be played by some of the boys on high school diamonds and fields. Crafts, too, are taught as part of the program.

Carroll Steele teaches Knothole League kids fine points of softball in session at Wilson Field.

Entertainment Business Skids

Worst Slump Since War Is Reported

NEW YORK.—(AP)—America's entertainment industry is reported experiencing its worst post-war slump.

Printing the results of a national survey, the New York Times said the decline "may be the most serious manifestation to date of a trend that set in 18 months ago."

The slump may carry the amusement business down to its pre-war level, the paper said.

The survey disclosed: Movie box-office sales have fallen off between seven and 12 percent in the last year.

Numerous night clubs that never before shut down in warm weather have closed their doors.

Phonograph record sales have dropped an estimated 10 to 35 percent, forcing the closing of some plant facilities.

Sheet music sales are off almost 40 percent.

Payrolls have been slashed on many movie lots, because of reduced margins of profit.

The number of legitimate shows on Broadway is less than a year ago, and several current productions are in precarious financial condition.

Many radio stars face salary cuts.

"Television has thus become virtually the only major entertainment field—with the possible exception of some concert programs—to show continued growth," the Times said.

The paper said top entertainment executives cite these reasons for the slump:

1. Increased living costs have led to curtailment of luxury good-time spending.

2. Commodities not available in wartime—such as automobiles—now are competing for the consumer dollars.

3. Competition from new amusement fields, such as night baseball.

4. Increased costs that the industry has been unable to pass along in the form of higher prices because of customer resistance.

Brock Pemberton, president of the New York league of theaters, was quoted as saying the present "financial slump is greater than anything since the pre-war depression."

"The people have undoubtedly stopped throwing their money around," he said.

'Public Should Assume Health Responsibility'

Dr. Savage Declares Complaints Should Be 'Well-Justified'

A complaint, when made to officials, should be well-justified by the facts of the case, in the opinion of Dr. Gordon E. Savage, Fayette County health commissioner.

The doctor pointed out that, at this time of year, officials of public departments—including the Fayette County Health Department—are "swamped with complaints, many of them without any particular health significance."

As a matter of fact, Dr. Savage, declared, "we sometimes wonder, when an investigation has been made, what the complaint was about."

He recommended discretion in making complaints, then pointed out:

"Frequently conditions on the premises of the one making the complaint are more serious than conditions on the premises about which the complaint was made."

In a prepared statement, Dr. Savage declared:

"Trash, weeds and garbage have no particular health significance. They simply look bad or smell bad. They may, however, encourage the multiplication of flies and rats."

"The time of your officials is valuable; and they have more important things to do than investigate complaints of little or no significance."

"Surely, intelligent people should assume the responsibility of having garbage and trash removed without being given a specific order by the police or Health Department. The same thing applies to a privy which is overflowing onto the surface of the ground and emitting a disagreeable odor constituting a legal nuisance.

"Will not the person, himself, or his neighbors, assume the responsibility for getting these conditions corrected without officials spending their time which could be used to better advantage?"

"Often, when a visit is made, we find that apparently the complaint arose from a neighborhood argument and no legitimate grounds exist for a complaint."

"There is in existence a Washington C. H. ordinance compelling connection to municipal sewer when that sewer becomes available. Persons owning premises to which sewer has become available should consider it a privilege, as well as a responsibility, to make connection without a specific order from public officials."

"Save your officials' time for tasks that are far more important by correcting these conditions, or getting them corrected without recourse to a formal complaint."

Dr. Savage made eight recommendations for improvement of lids and remove garbage at least biweekly to our community," he concluded.

4.—Keep privy vault contents removed and superstructure clean and free from flies and rats. Chemicals are available which will prevent most of the odors from privies and septic tanks.

5.—Make connection to sewer as soon as sewer becomes available.

6.—Keep pens of chickens and animals clean, and free from odor.

7.—Cut weeds NOW.

8.—Repair and paint home, if indicated.

9.—Plant grass and flowers.

Hill Is Chosen To Play Moses In Bible Play

Summers, Schlichter,
Rev. Abernethy Cast
In Supporting Roles

Winston W. Hill, Washington C. H. city manager and prominent attorney, has been selected to play the leading role of Moses in the pageant, "The Light Eternal."

The casting of Hill in the stellar spot was announced Thursday by Miss Rose-Marie McCarthy, director of the play.

Other cast members already selected have been Hal Summers as the pharaoh of ancient Egypt, Bill Schlichter as Joseph and Rev. John K. Abernethy as the grandfather who opens and closes the production.

Two grandchildren—to whom the story is told—are Nancy and Bill Humphries. Hill, playing the part of the ancient deliverer, prophet and law-giver of Israel, will portray one of the most dramatic and dynamic characters in Biblical history.

Enslavement of Israel The story begins with the enslavement of the people of Israel, who are forced by the wicked pharaoh (Hal Summers) to labor and toil for the glory of Egypt.

Their hope of deliverance was kept alive through the faith, understanding and leadership of Moses. Many miracles were worked through Moses and Aaron, and finally many terrible plagues were visited upon the Egyptians forcing the pharaoh to free the Israelites from bondage.

Not until the last plague, which struck dead the firstborn in every Egyptian household, was the exodus from Egypt allowed.

During their wanderings in the wilderness, Moses came to realize that no peoples or nation could survive upon man's law alone.

So Moses, with great courage and wisdom, went to Mt. Sinai to obtain an enduring law, upon which all law should be established.

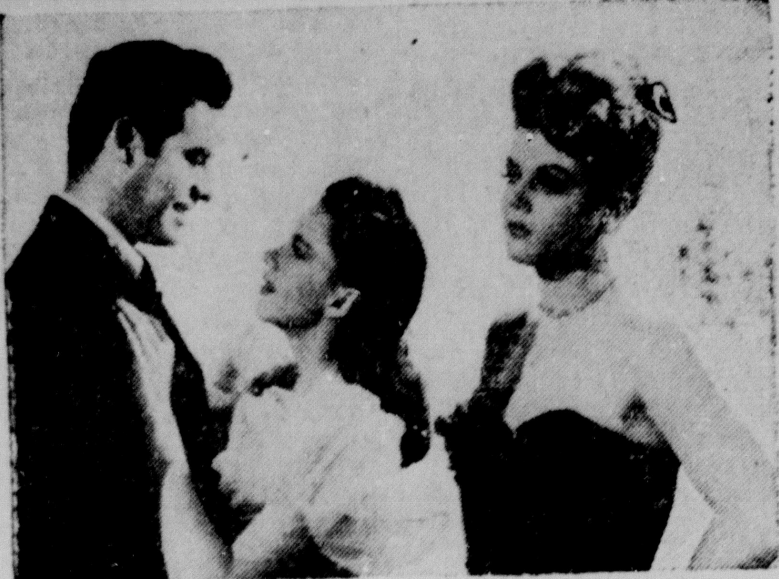

The play goes on to show Moses' return to his people with a set of laws that should last forever, that should be merciful, just and keep the peace—laws that were to become an eternal light in the darkness for all time.

An Impressive Scene According to the director, the scene of Moses' return to his people and the giving of the Ten Commandments is an impressive scene.

In the part of the pharaoh, Summers is the center of all the pomp and ceremony which can be rallied to depict the ancient Egyptian court. The pharaoh is much pleased because Joseph (Bill Schlichter) could interpret his dreams. As a result, Joseph became governor of all Egypt.

Rev. Abernethy, who plays the grandfather's part, is well-fitted to play the role of the interpreter and announcer for the play. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and president of the Fayette County Ministerial Association, sponsor of the pageant.

"The Light Eternal" is scheduled for 8:30 P. M. Sunday, August 1, at the Fairground. In event of rain, it will be held in the auditorium of Washington C. H. High School.

Sunday at the Palace "The Harvey Girls." It's blazing, blistering romance...in the wide open spaces starring Judy Garland and John Hodiak. On the same bill is "Tanks A Million."

Atomic Treatment of Cancer Ends Without Much Success

By RENNIE TAYLOR

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—An attempt to treat incurable cancer with a beam of neutrons from a cyclotron has ended without much success.

Back in 1938 researchers found that neutrons, which are components of atomic nuclei, effectively destroyed cancer tissue when concentrated into a beam to bombard malignant cells. The neutrons did not seem to destroy healthy cells near the cancerous ones.

To test neutrons as a treatment, University of California medical researchers over a period of five years treated 249 persons by this method, using 8 million and 16-million volt beams from two Berkeley cyclotrons.

Reporting on the results, Dr. Robert S. Stone, the university's top radiologist, said that only

The outside work is to be done first, before the weather gets bad. Appraisal on 1941 Basis

A schedule of labor and material costs here is being compiled as the basis for determining the reproduction cost.

When all of the data has been compiled the buildings will be classified and the valuations based on 1941 figures.

From these "sound values" the tax value will be established, Action said.

The auditor and company officials estimated the city reappraisal would be completed in "four or five months."

The reappraisal of real estate in the rural sections and villages of the county is tentatively scheduled to start about Aug. 15.

The reappraisal of commercial real estate and utilities also is to be made by the firm, but the time has not yet been set for starting that phase of the work.

Contract With Commissioners The county commissioners made a contract with The Cole-Layer-Trumble Co. to make the appraisal for $18,000. It calls for the company to do the entire job in the city with its own trained staff and to supervise the work in the rest of the county with local help.

The county is to pay the local appraisers at an estimated cost of $400 to $500.

An official of the company—which, incidentally, has contracts for reappraising in 20 of Ohio's 88 counties—emphasized that the primary purpose of the reappraisal was equalization of valuations for tax purposes. He said "undoubtedly valuations on some property will be lowered" to bring them in line. Property on the tax duplicate below a fair valuation will be raised, he added.

Once the tax duplicate is set up with fair values all based on the same standard, he said, the county should be able to go indefinitely without the necessity of another complete reappraisal. Action echoed that sentiment.

Reappraisal Starts

Measurements of the houses and diagram the buildings according to their floor plan on the prepared form on which other data is to be recorded later.

Check Inside, Too This is to be followed up with a study of the house, inside and out, for type of construction, its condition, number of rooms and the type and condition of heating and plumbing.

It was still uncertain when the inside checking would be started.

It was made plain that while the detailed description of the houses would have to be made inside as well as outside, the appraisers were not interested in anything else.

Each appraiser carries an identification card signed by Ulric Acton, the county auditor, under whose authority the reappraisal is being made. An official of the appraising company said householders should ask the appraisers to show them their identification cards to prevent

Braves Club Blackie To Trounce Reds, 6-2

BY JACK HAND
(By the Associated Press)
The Boston Braves were the victims of Ewell Blackwell's no hit-no run game a little more than a year ago but he was no mystery to them last night.

The league-leaders clubbed Blackie and the Cincinnati Reds for a 6-2 victory before a Shriners' night crowd of 27,153, dumping the tall right-hander to his seventh defeat as against six wins.

Warren Spahn was the master of the Reds last night as he scattered seven hits for his eighth win. Blackwell fanned nine Braves but two of his pitches were of the home run variety, one to first sacker Earl Torgeson and the other to left fielder Jeff Heath, the latter good for two counters.

Torgeson belted his homer in the first and the Braves leaped on Blackie for two more on three singles in the sixth. They got another in the seventh before Heath connected for his round-tripper in the eighth.

The Reds nicked Spahn for a run on three hits in the sixth and added another in the eighth as left fielder Hank Sauer counted Johnny Wrostek's walk with a double to right field.

Yankees Caught
Joe McCarthy finally has caught the New York Yankees, the club his Boston Red Sox consider "the team to beat" for the American League flag.

By winning a day-night double-header from lowly Chicago while New York and Cleveland were splitting a pair, the Red Sox last night moved into a third-place tie with the world champs.

While the Yanks and Indians wrestle on the Yankee Stadium turf for two more days Boston has a golden chance to gain more ground in its continued series with the White Sox. Only 3½ games back today, Boston can be in a position to challenge for the lead Saturday when Lou Boudreau's Indians move into Fenway Park.

McCarthy must have been encouraged, too, by the relief win of Tex Hughson, the tall Texan who has been lost to the team most of the season.

Hughson came in to pitch the ninth inning of last night's game with Chicago, picking up the verdict when the Red Sox rallied for three runs in the ninth to take a 10-9 edge. They had won the afternoon half by a 3-1 score for Joe Dobson's 12th success.

At the stadium, New York ganged up on the tribe in the first of a doubleheader for a 7-3 decision over Bob Munierief. Ed Lopat scattered six hits for his seventh straight triumph.

The Yanks had an 8-4 lead going into the seventh frame of the second game but couldn't hold it. Joe Page was rapped lustily in a relief chore, leaving the game with the score tied and two men on base in the eighth. Karl Drews took over and walked pinchhitter Wally Judnich to load them up. Then Jim Hegan delivered a grand

Demon Hanover Is Outstanding

Becomes Favorite
For Hambletonian

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 22—(P)—Demon Hanover's chance of being the post-time favorite for the $60,000 Hambletonian was stronger than ever today.

The three-year-old colt last night enhanced his standing among contenders for the Goshen stake Aug. 11, by twice outtracing the classic's prospective field in winning the $10,000 Saratoga Trot, Grand Circuit feature at the Saratoga raceway.

The Demon repeated a performance of a week ago as he covered the final dash in 2:05 4-5, finishing six lengths ahead of W. N. Reynolds' Judge Moore. Mercy Abbey was third.

Owner Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn., drove The Demon over the elimination heat in 2:08 1-5. Pronto Don, who won the second elimination in 2:08 flat, never threatened in the final dash.

The Demon, who a week ago won the $5,000 Adirondack, now has won six straight dashes and eight of 12 starts this year.

The Diplomat, driven by Dr. Hugh Parshall, won a photo over Harry Short's Gene Abbe in the $2,500 Amsterdam pace. It was the second win in two nights for the pacer from the Hayes Fair Acres stable. Octave Blake's Ale-mite finished third.

Games To Be Played If Rain Holds Off

No rain for 12 hours and sunlight filtering through the lightening clouds led to hopes that Thursday night's softball double bill could be played at Wilson Field.

Fred Pierson, the recreation director, said at mid-morning that "if the sun stays out and we don't have any more rain, I think they can play."

Pennington's Bakers and the Mortons are booked for the curtain raiser with Drake's Producers from New Holland and the Lawson Legionnaires for the nightcap.

Wednesday night's games, with the Knothole League All-Star tilt headlined, were rained out. Wilson Field was still muddy Thursday morning, but it was drying out.

Friday night's double feature will open with a Recreational League game between the Universals and Jeffersonville Merchants and wind up with a Greater Ohio League tilt between the Wilmington and Washington C. H. teams.

40 WCH Shriners See Reds Defeated

Even if they did not get to see Ewell Blackwell pitch the Cincinnati Reds to a win over the Boston Braves Wednesday night, the Washington C. H. Shrine Club members at least had a good time.

That was the consensus of opinion when the 40 Shriners returned after the ball game in a special bus which they had chartered for the occasion. The Reds bowed to the National League leaders, 6 to 2, before 27,153 fans.

Shriners from all parts of southern Ohio gathered at Crosley Field to participate in the an-

Bill Kimmey Finds Golf Course in Japan
So Tough Country Club Layout Seems Easy

Bill Kimmey will appreciate the level and comparatively simple golf course at the Country Club here when he gets back from Japan. He admitted as much in a letter to Tony Capuana, the club pro.

Bill, the son of Mrs. Myers Kimmey, grew up on Leesburg Avenue less than a mashie shot from the No. 8 green. Started out as a caddy. Later he took up the game as a player.

Tony said "he wasn't bad, either, before he went into the army."

Annual Shrine Night and to honor Billy Southworth, manager of the Braves and a member of the Aladdin Shrine.

Now Bill is in Japan, stationed in the air materiel area at Tachikawa, about 26 miles west of Tokyo.

But the important thing to Bill is that his base is only four miles from Koganei Golf Club, apparently one of those swank places for the Jap upper crust before the war. That is where Bill and some of his buddies are getting in their golf now.

The Koganei course, Bill wrote Capuana, is an 18-hole layout. It was planned, he said, by Walter Hagen, and he added "he certainly must have been trap-happy."

There are 120 sand traps—"and what beauties they are"—on the 18 fairways, Bill wrote.

The Country Club course here he is convinced will "seem like a miniature course if I ever learn how to play this baby."

The nine-hole layout here has but 27 traps. Par is 36 strokes.

Bill used to play it in "about 45, which is average," before he left, Capuana recalled.

Bill wrote that his best score on the Koganei course was 47-51 for 18 holes. He did not say what par was.

His ret ambition when he gets back, he wrote, is to "play and beat" Danny O'Brien. But he admitted "it looks like that would be a tough pull, though, from the scores he's been getting."

Bill said he has been following golf developments here through the "19th Hole" clippings from the Record-Herald sent him by his mother.

He said "Danny probably will be champion back home" by the time he returns, but he's counting on Capuana to cure his hooks and slices with a few lessons so he can give him some competition.

"It couldn't happen to a better guy, though," he said of his future opponent's championship prospects.

He asked Capuana to send him a complete set of PGA rules. He could not find them in Japan to settle some arguments on the fine points of golf he and his buddies have been having.

The rules were in the mail the day after the letter was received.

Good Harvest Help to Greece

Recovery Is Slow But Fairly Steady

By HELEN MAMAS
ATHENS.—(AP)—Greece is making slow, but fairly steady progress toward economic rehabilitation as the nation struggles chiefly to crush the two-year-old guerrilla rebellion.

In the last year, more areas have been made secure from Communist bands, more farmers have returned to the plow and more farm land put into cultivation. Favorable weather promises that the 1948 harvest in general will be very good.

The 1948 wheat crop is expected to reach 780,000 tons, which is 247,000 tons more than in 1947, but still far below the 980,000 tons produced in 1933.

To meet the consumption requirement, Greece will have to import an additional 450,000 tons—probably from the United States.

The fruit and nut crop is expected to surpass slightly last year's crop of 353,000 tons and Greece will have a surplus of currants, sultanas, and grapes for export. The 1938 crop was 423,500 tons.

The olive oil crop, a potential source of foreign exchange, is expected to be smaller than the 1947 crop. Of 140,000 tons, local consumption of olive oil, a basic food in the Greek diet, averages 80,000 tons annually. While none of the 1948 crop will be available for export, a large part of last year's crop will be sold this year.

Production for edible olives will be lower this year than in 1947, but the new crop should be of finer quality. In 1947, 36,000 tons of edible olives were raised. If 30,000 tons are produced this year, 15,000 will be available for export.

Estimates of this year's tobacco crop are unavailable, but Greece has a large amount of last year's 45,000 ton tobacco crop for export.

Trade with Europe will be much greater than usual in dollar value and in the volume of imports. About $300,000,000 of goods will be imported through private, state and aid channels in 1948.

About 45 percent of imports will be food; 10 percent textile raw materials; 10 percent metals—mainly iron and steel; 10 percent industrial and agricultural machinery; 10 percent fuel and 15 percent medical and chemical supplies and other industrial raw materials.

While most of the food will continue to come from the United States, Greece will buy some fish from the Scandinavian countries, Great Britain and Iceland, sugar from Czechoslovakia and Poland, some meat from Bengali and other Mediterranean countries, and beans from the United States, South America and the Middle East.

Greece hopes to buy more iron and steel from Europe this year, especially from Great Britain, Belgium and France. These materials were largely imported from the U. S. in 1947. All 1948 coal will come from the Ruhr—unless the Ruhr cannot meet Greece's requirements—then some

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

ANDREW went to sit on a corner of Joan's desk.

"I've had an offer," he said abruptly.

She looked up at him, startled. "To buy the house? Already? Before it's built?"

"No, this is an offer for my architectural services.

"Oh," she clasped her hands together with pleasure. "Mr. Durfee's going to put up his summer place, and has engaged you."

"No," he said again, "this is something much bigger. A charitable organization in New Jersey has been left a huge old mansion and a sum of money to turn it into a sanitarium. They want me to do the job."

Surprisingly, she said nothing, but her lids fluttered down, and her hands, after one spasmodic tightening of the fingers, fell into her lap. Her face was very still.

At last she said, "How long would it take?"

"I don't know all the details, but about a year, I suppose."

Still she said nothing, and Andrew, somehow, was strangely pleased. He said quietly, "Shall I take it, Jo?"

"Oh, Jo!" she cried involuntarily, then flushed furiously. "I don't mean that! You should do whatever you think best, of course. It's a chance to further your career, and I suppose you'd be foolish..."

"It would mean quite a bit of money, too," he inserted.

She brushed that aside. "That doesn't matter so much as the fact that you'd be doing work you're trained for. But your housing development, Andy?"

"Oh, I imagine I could stay long enough to finish that. Or I could sell the house as it stands now, with the supplies and the drawings all in hand."

She looked up at him with something like appeal in her eyes. "Are you—going to do that?" she asked.

"Of course not. I'm going to stay right here, and go through with the whole development. I'm a Bransfield now, you know."

She took a deep breath of relief, then smiled at him. "I think you're horrid to get me all upset for no reason at all."

"No reason?" he teased her. "Until one minute ago, I wasn't entirely sure that I was staying. But now I am."

He went back to his room to after his drawings for the house. With the plywood available for this new purpose, he could have several built-in features that he had had to pass up, most reluctantly, when he made his original plans. He was deep in his work, when Nora came and Emma Potts called him down.

Nora looked as if she had just won the Irish Sweepstakes. "Well, I did it!" she announced. "The dear old soul signed on the dotted line—or rather, she will sign if you'll bring her a dotted line to sign on! She even invited me for dinner this noon!"

Andrew grinned at her. "I'll wager it was good, too," he teased her.

"It was not! Greasy fried potatoes, and some sort of unidentified fried meat, and stewed dried apples! Ugh! If I die of indigestion, I expect you to put up a marker in memoriam."

"I will," he promised at once. "Something like this:

"Here lies Nora Huntington Who used to be a sinner But she redeemed herself by eating One fried dinner."

Nora made a move at him, and sank into the most comfortable rocker on the porch. "I really feel awfully set up. You've no idea how I worked on her. First I nearly had her in tears about how hard it was to get any decent wood, and she said she'd 'heard tell' as much; then I said that you couldn't possibly fix it up unless you could use the wood from the barn and the porch, and she agreed to that, too. Then I had her, you see, and from there on it was just a matter of wearing her down."

But these New Hampshire people take a lot of wearing," she sighed ludicrously. "Goodness knows how much of me is left!"

"How long has it taken you?" Andrew asked, curiously.

"Two weeks and three days," she answered promptly. "When I took you up on the suggestion, I thought I could do it in one visit, or maybe two. But the stubbornner she got, the stubbornner I got, and I finally decided I'd get her to sell if I had to stay up here all summer. I think I will stay all summer, anyhow. I like it up here."

Andrew, remembering her tirades about the country a few weeks before, wisely said nothing.

"I can't expect the Howells to put up with me indefinitely, so I'm moving to the Forest Hills on Saturday, and as soon as Peckett's get a cancellation, I'm going to try to get in there. What's next, darling?"

Andrew grinned at her. "As if I didn't have enough on my mind," he chided her, "without having to think up projects to keep you amused. Why don't you go into the business?"

"The real estate business?" Nora shook her head. "There's an awful lot to learn about it," she said, "and state licenses and things like that. I'm too dumb for it."

"No, I didn't mean that exactly. I meant the scouting business, the wearing-down business. If I'm going to establish myself around here, I'll need to know of more than one old farmhouse that could be remodeled when better times come. Why don't you hunt them up for me awhile? You've got your car, and the time..."

"I just might, at that," Nora laughed, and surprised you! By the way, how's the house coming?"

"At the present moment, it isn't coming at all. I can't find the workmen. There's an awful lot of building and repairing going on, in spite of shortages, and every available man seems to be taken."

I had hoped to have it done and ready for occupancy by Labor Day, but it looks now as if I wouldn't get anywhere near my goal."

It was this that bothered him more than he would say. He tracked down every lead, hoping to get hold of men, but they were all engaged for some time ahead, and though they were pleasant enough, and—he felt—would have been glad to work for him, their present contracts could not be ignored.

And then, just as he was about to despair of ever getting any workmen for the house, Joan took a hand. He had known she was an efficient secretary and a mine of information concerning the materials of his trade, but when he had not realized that she was a Bransfield of standing, and well liked in the community. Unobtrusively, but with careful selection, she began to look up men who had building knowledge.

This was not as strange as it first sounded to Andrew, for most of the farmers, most of the men whose families had lived in the neighborhood for generations, had an excellent training in the use of tools, and—what was more—a good understanding of what they were doing when they used them.

She sent him a retired woodsman, who lived alone in a small cottage on a hill. He was a little stiff with rheumatism, but his skill with hammer, saw, and chisel was unimpaired. She sent him a business man who had been with the Seabees in the war, and who hankered for the chance to do something in the construction line. She sent him a wiry, dark-bearded French-Canadian who had once been a mason, but who was currently driving a taxi.

With these three Andrew made his start. He had trouble finding anyone to unload the lumber from the freight cars, but Josh Beadie helped him there, and Andrew himself turned to and heaved with the rest of them. He was so busy that he did not realize how much time had passed. When Nora had said it had taken her two weeks and three days to persuade the old woman to sell her house, he had been astounded to find that that much time had passed since the exciting day when he and Eph had rescued Carol.

Now, with matters finally started on his house, he wondered what had happened to the Sayres, and he dropped around there one evening to visit. Millie greeted him with a friendly smile. "Come in," she said. "Father is in the library, as usual. We can hardly get him out of there when it's time to go to bed, he likes it so well."

County Soaked During Week; Corn Benefited

Relief from Heat and Humidity Is Forecast Now

Heavy rainfall during the past week has been "very, very beneficial" to most Fayette County farm crops, W. W. Montgomery, county agricultural agent, said Thursday.

During the past seven days, 3.24 inches of rain has fallen in Washington C. H. This was the official government report made by Coyt Stookey, the weather observer.

It contrasts with only .48 inch during the same week last year.

The heavy rainfall during the past week has combined with temperatures up to the low 90s to be beneficial to soybeans, pasture and especially corn.

It has caused up to 25 percent damage, however, in the unharvested oats crop, Montgomery declared.

How much damage to wheat still unharvested could not be determined, Montgomery said. A "considerable amount" remains unharvested, particularly in the northern section of the county, he declared.

Absence of wind and hail brought joy to the farmers.

On two days during the past seven, rainfall has topped one inch. Wednesday's precipitation total reached 1.35 inches, and on Monday the tally reported by Stookey it was 1.55 inches.

In fact, only on one day—Sunday—was no rain reported in Washington C. H. Precipitation reported on other days was: Thursday, .18; Friday, .04; Saturday, .08; and Tuesday, .04 inch.

Maximum temperatures ranged from a "low" of 85 on Friday and Tuesday to a high of 91 on Sunday. Last Thursday it was 90; Friday, 85; Saturday, 90; Sunday, 81; Monday, 89; Tuesday, 85; and Wednesday, 87.

During the same period last year, rainfall of .45 inch was reported for July 19. On the same date this year, the total was 1.55. And rainfall of .03 inch was reported for July 15 of last year, contrasting with .18 this year on the same date.

Relief from the warm weather appeared in sight Thursday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The bureau issued a forecast predicting somewhat cooler weather Thursday, followed by considerable cloudiness and cooler weather Friday. Thursday was to be cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms during the night.

DAMAGES ARE SOUGHT

A. F. McCann of Wilmington Route 4 has entered suit in Common Pleas Court against the Michigan Fire and Marine Insurance Company seeking the payment of $900 in damages, plus interest from December 23, 1947, for 12 hogs he said were stolen from his farm.

Little Ohio Town

It has a library of 6,000 volumes, an auditorium where the latest movies are screened at a nominal admission price, and a dining room which is used by local churches and community organizations.

In the tower are many paintings, some by John Ward Dunsmore, the most famed of which is his painting of Betsy Ross sewing the first flag. Here also is the manuscript of Edwin Markham's poem, "The Man With the Hoe."

Through the memorial, which emphasizes cultural values, every boy and girl in Bloom Township, will be eligible for the $300 scholarships. A few already have made applications.

Dr. Clyde Hiss, Ohio director of education, commenting upon the scholarship phase of the memorial, said that Mrs. Jones' generosity will provide an unusual opportunity to discover how much young people value higher education.

"This is something new in education," he said. "It will suggest college to young men and women who probably would not have considered going beyond high school if these scholarships had not been offered them."

"Not only will the memorial offer provide an avenue to higher learning for Bloom Township youth, it will make them ambitious for it—which I consider equally important."

COUNCIL REVIVAL PLANNED

CHILLICOTHE — Revival of the Ross County Veteran Council will be attempted at a meeting August 1, according to Ray Griesheimer, last chairman before the council disbanded during World War II years.

Two Accidents But None Hurt

Trucks Are Involved In Both Mishaps

No injuries were reported as the result of two motor vehicle accidents involving trucks on Fayette County highways Wednesday and Thursday.

Sheriff Orland Hays and Deputy Sheriff Guy Carter investigated the mishaps.

An empty coal truck owned by Mrs. Ruby Martin of Jackson and driven by her son, Wilbur W. Walker, 16, plowed through a fence on the Emery H. Gabelman farm eight miles south of Washington C. H. on the Greenfield Road, early Wednesday.

Sheriff Hays said the youth fell asleep at the wheel. The damage is covered by insurance.

The Wednesday evening accident occurred on the CCC Highway near Staunton at 7:30.

Deputy Sheriff Carter said a car driven by Isaac Barger, 23, Leesburg Route 2, was struck by the trailer hauled by a truck owned by Eastern Order Buyers of Marysville.

The truck was rounding a turn in the highway, traveling south and skidded over to the other lane and hit the northbound Barger automobile, Carter reported. The car was badly damaged.

Driver of the truck was Bernie Forsbach, 23, 1244 Gilbert Avenue, Columbus.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie, two daughters, Mrs. Ballard Burton of Sabina and Mrs. L. H. Rice of New Vienna, one brother, William Newland of New Vienna, and one granddaughter.

Mr. Newland was a member of the Peebles Church of Christ.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 P. M. in the Littleton Funeral Home with Rev. Daniel C. Mayer, minister of the Sabina Church of Christ, officiating. Interment will be in the Sabina Cemetery.

The body will remain at the funeral home where friends may call.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. John Morter

Final rites for Mrs. John Morter were held Wednesday at 2 P. M. in the Klever Funeral Home with Rev. Allan W. Caley, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, officiating.

Rev. Caley read the Scripture, offered prayer and delivered the sermon. He also read a beautiful memoir written by Mrs. Faith Pearce, three poems "Crossing the Bar," "The Eternal Goodness" and "A Far Greater Plan" and two hymns, "Face to Face" and "Good Night and Good Morning."

The services were largely attended and the many floral remembrances were cared for by the pallbearers who were Robert, William, George and Edgar Manuel, Edgar Nelson and Otis Allen.

Typical Farm Family Is To Be Chosen Here

Some lucky Fayette County farm family will receive a one-day trip to the Ohio State Fair this year with all expenses paid!

And that same family may be named the most typical farm family in Ohio and spend the entire fair week on the Fairground in Columbus living in a model farm home!

The Columbus Dispatch in cooperation with the Granges of Ohio, the county extension agents, the Ford dealers, the presidents of the county agricultural societies and the Ohio State Fair will select Ohio's Most Typical Farm Family from one of the 88 counties in the state.

The state winner, besides spending a week at the Fair, will get a new Ford tractor and plow and a 5-day trip to Niagara Falls and New York City with all expenses paid.

The contest is open to any farm family residing on and operating a farm of 50 acres or more in Ohio. The family does not have to own the farm—just living on a farm qualifies it. Contest officials said that it costs nothing to enter the contest and it costs nothing to win.

Each county will also have a winner and the state winner will be chosen from this group. All of the county winners will make the trip to Columbus in a new Ford automobile. Merchandise prizes for the county winners will be announced later.

Anyone may nominate a family for the contest, officials said. There are absolutely no restrictions on the size of the family or the age of its members.

Nomination blanks and voting petitions may be obtained in Fayette County from County Agricultural Agent W. W. Montgomery. The deadline for nominations has been set at noon, Saturday, July 31. All voting petitions must be in Montgomery's hands no later than noon on Tuesday, August 10.

$6,000 GOAL IS SET

State Total Drops Below 1947 Yield

Although the sale of prepaid tax receipts in Ohio between July 1 and July 10 was less than for the same period last year, Fayette County showed an increase, Don H. Ebright, treasurer of state announced today in his weekly report.

Fayette Countians purchased stamps amounting to $7,199.46 in the ten-day period this year as compared to $6,026.87 last year. Collections so far this year in Fayette County total $155,572.62 as compared with $125,349.95 in 1946, the treasurer's report said.

Based on the statewide sale, Ohioans bought stamps amounting to $2,693,378.96 as compared with $2,844,152.23. Despite the decrease in the ten-day period, the totals for the year still run about ten million dollars more than last year, Ebright said.
